DETAILED ACTION

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Ruepping, U. S. Patent 6,346,300.

Reference to Ruepping specifically teaches the claimed compositions with both bromine and iodine functional monomers as the cure sites. Column 10 contains a long list of iodine monomers useful in the composition. The teaching of the reference, therefore, anticipates the claimed compositions and the reference also teaches gaskets and coatings. The declaration presented by applicants is essentially not relevant in the case of anticipation, which is the case even without specific examples to an iodine cure site composition. (The fact that the declaration is not nearly commensurate in scope to the claims need not, therefore, be discussed). The rejection under 35 USC 102 is maintained.
